Sometimes, the law can seem like a foreign language. I believe a good lawyer is a good translator who decodes complicated legal language into practical and helpful information. As the intermediary between the law and my clients' needs, my aim is to guard their interests and rights, support the development of their business, and provide solutions to legal matters.

Having studied law in both the U.S. and China, I'm eager to apply my legal knowledge and my bilingual ability to my practice.

In my spare time, I enjoy traveling, movies, music, and playing badminton. Cooking is my way of relaxing and sharing my happiness with family and friends.
